Dear School Leader,

Congratulations!

BriBooks in partnership with EducationWorld, invites your school Solitaire Global Schools- golden heights colony, to participate in the Summer Book Writing Festival with NDTV and Disney as media partners.

Unfortunately, your school missed the initial registration deadline due to early Summer vacations. However, we are thrilled to announce that the school registration deadline has been extended till 5th June 2023 to provide all schools with a fair and equal opportunity to participate.

During the event, students of Grades 1-12, will learn different aspects of writing, publishing, promoting and selling books from some of the best global authors and storytellers including -

- ▶ Dr. Carl D. Marci, Harvard Ph.D., Author, Entrepreneur & Scientist.
- ▶ Diane Tavenner, Founder of Summit Schools.
- ▶ Omri Marcus, Global Comedy Writer
- ▶ Mariana Atencio, Anchor CNBC
- ▶ Kristen Grimm, Storyteller & Moderator at Aspen Institute

Students will then write and publish their books using BriBooks, an AI-powered platform. They can earn an ISBN from the Ministry of Education, get featured on Disney International and NDTV, win awards, receive author royalties, and be showcased at the Brooklyn Book Festival.

The Summer Book Writing Festival is Completely FREE for schools and students

Participate and join the ranks of prestigious schools like Pathways World School, Modern Public School, and Indus International School, which have won the Literary Leadership Awards for promoting literary excellence among students.

Next Steps: Solitaire Global Schools- golden heights colony

- ▶ Please confirm participation by registering by 9th June 2023, 6pm at the following www.camp.bribooks.com/india/schoolrequest
Please ensure only concerned authorities sign up and this link is NOT shared with students.
